Optus Sport App rebuild

This release is focused almost exclusively on a rebuild of the Optus Sport app on Fetch. Other than some design updates, the majority of the changes to the app are to back end functionality that isn't visible to users.

The Optus Sport app is available to everyone from the App Store and Google Play. Fetch customers who have a subscription to the app can use their login details to watch Optus Sport on Fetch. This functionality is not available to iiNet, Internode and Westnet customers

Various Bug Fixes

Various bugs have been addressed in the following areas across Fetch:

- ✓ Numerous other small display issues addressed across the service

Various bugs have been addressed in the following areas across Fetch:

What's changed?

- ✓ We've renumbered some sections of the TV Guide
- ✓ Many of the subscription channels have a new channel number
- ✓ We've added some new Free-to-Air Virtual Playlist channels

Why were the changes made?

- ✓ To make it easier to get to some of the most popular channels
- ✓ To put channels in more logical groupings
- ✓ To make room for new virtual playlist channels

Things to know

- ✓ All Fetch boxes will automatically update sometime between July 15 - 17
- ✓ There is no need to rescan channels or restart your Fetch box
- ✓ Free-to-Air channel numbers have not changed, and remain at CH1-99 in your TV Guide
- ✓ Your recordings, Series Tags and Reminders are not impacted, and will continue to work as normal
- ✓ If you have set up a My Channels List, or have hidden any channels, these will remain in place based on the channel name. You can check your settings for these at Menu > Manage > Settings > Channels.
- ✓ The Movie Box virtual playlist channel is now at CH100. You can move forwards and backwards in time and watch any movie on this channel immediately from the start.
- ✓ We have added new Free-to-Air Virtual Playlist channels starting at CH180. You can read more about these later in this update.
- ✓ The table below shows you all the channel number changes in detail.

Free-to-Air Virtual Playlist Channels

What's changed?

- ✓ We've added four new Free-to-Air Virtual Playlist Channels that link into the Free-to-Air apps. ABC iView has not launched yet but will be coming soon.
- ✓ You will find these channels in the TV Guide starting from CH180, as soon as your TV Guide update has been received

Why were the changes made?

- ✓ To make it easier for you to discover some of the great free content already available to you that you may not be aware of

Things to know

- ✓ There is no cost to access content on these channels
- ✓ All the content available comes from the existing FTA apps - SBS on Demand, 9Now, 10 Play, 7Plus, and ABC iView (coming soon).
 - ✓ You may need to log into the apps before you can watch the content on them
 - ✓ If so, you'll be prompted to log in the first time you try to watch the content
 - ✓ The instructions on how to do this will be shown on your Fetch screen
 - ✓ You need to use your computer, mobile or tablet to set up your account following the instructions on your Fetch screen, and you'll need to enter the code provided to pair your Fetch with the app
 - ✓ Once done, you will be able to watch the content on your Fetch without needing to log in again
- ✓ Watching content from the apps via these channels will use your internet data
- ✓ You cannot record these channels as they are not live, they link into the FTA apps
- ✓ All episodes accessed from these channels play from the start of the episode

- ✓ Any show you watch from these channels is automatically added to your My Stuff area. You can go to Menu > MyStuff > Catch Up anytime to keep watching.
- ✓ You can move forward in the TV Guide to choose any episode to watch immediately
- ✓ To exit the apps once you have finished watching, press Exit on your remote

We hope that this overview gives you all the information you need on the channel number changes and the new Virtual Playlist Channels. If you still have any questions, please get in touch on our facebook page at facebook.com/fetchtv.
